FALSE ENTRIES IN THE CASH-BOOK-JEWELRY MELTED DOWN AND SOLD FOR OLD GOLD.

Mr. Israel P. Libbey keeps a very extensive jewelry store at No. 437 Seventh street morthwest, and carries on quite a large trade with the public generally. His display of goods is both rich and choice, and shis class of custom will compare fa-verably with that of any merchant pursuing a similar business. It was not strange, therefore that Mr. Libbey should think that he was doing well, considering the slowness of sales in the resent dull times, and that his profits would present a good showing when brought in comparison with his fellow-merchants. Although he bulanced his cash-book regularly each night, still sented realize his expectations. The two would be compared, and though corresponding, he had misgivings that something was wrong, and felt samelied that the receipts exceeded the showing as the counting up. Where the discrepancy was he could not discover, but resolved to be more watchful and see if a leak could not be found and the source thereof traced. Vigilant though he was, the same state of affairs continued to exist from day to day, and he became discouraged in his efforts to solve the mystery. Deciding to pursae another course, he proceeded to police head-quarters and reported the facts to Chief Detective Clarvoe, who transferred the case to Detectives McDevitt and Miller, where it received prompt ending. On investigating the cash-book; they made the discovery that fraudulent entries had been made; or, rather, that after he made an entry of an amount, in some instances (but done daily) shey had been changed and lower numbers sub-

This alteration was found through the book for several months back, and although carried on in small amounts still, when aggregrated, would reach quite a handsome sum. A further investiseation caused suspicion to fall on John Hilts, a oung man, 18 years of age, who has been in Mr. Libboy's employ for some time. Without taking she wouth into custody they resolved to pursue their search, and, if possible, secure more tangi-ble evidence of his guilt. They paid a visit to his house and, on searching his room, found a quan hisy of gold in lump that had been melted down. Meturning to the store they arrested and took him to police headquarters. They afterward assertained by admissions made to them that he met only altered the figures in the cash-book, but shat he also took pieces of jewelry from the stone, melted them down, and disposed of it as old gold He further acknowledged that his pecu averaged to him about $25 a week, and that he and been following this dishonest business ever amount taken about $600. One of the principle reasons that first led to suspecting the accused was his abundance of funds and lavish expendi-ture of it. His employer was satisfied that the salary received could not support this style of living, but was too charitable to believe him dis-menest. He will have a hearing to-day.

made as follows:

'Oh a Saturday in the month to be designated by the comptroller, the teachers of the white schools of Washington city to be paid at the Miller school building, between the hours of 9 and it a.m.; the teachers of the colored schools of Washington and Georgetown at the Sunner school building, between the hours of 11:39 a.m. and 1 p. m.: the teachers of Georgetown at the Montgemery-street school building, between the hours of 1:30 and 2 p. m., and the teachers of the county schools at the Franklin building, between the bours of 2:30 and 3:30 p. m. All to be paid the same day."

It is understood that the proposition has re esived the approval of Comptroller Baker, and it is probable that in tuture the lady teachers will receive their pay without the aunoyance of wading thros h the crowds which daily congregate m frent or Columbia building.

NOW IT IS PROVIDED WITH ESCAPE IN CASE OF FIBE.
The recent terrible disaster at Fall River, and the statement which appeared in an evening co-temporary a short time since that a similar calamity was likely to occur at any moment at the Government printing office, has caused considerable uneasiness in our midst, and a representative of THE REPUBLICAN yesterday called on Sq. perintendent Clapp at his office, to ascertain what, if any, precautions had been taken to prevent so dire an event taking place in that building. Mr. Clapp stated that, while he recognized the importance of taking every precaution to the importance of taking every precaution to guard against everything like fire, he believed that the statements which had appeared in pub-lic print were calculated to create needless alarm, as, in his opinion, no such disaster as the one referred to could by any means occur in that

In the first place no fire is used in any part of the building proper, as the heating is done entirely by steam, the boilers being located in an ontbuilding, situated some distance from the main edifice. In the second place the gas, which is used for lighting, fis invariably lit by the laborers, who are provided with wax tap that purpose and under no circumstances are they allowed to light a match or piece of paper when there is a gas jet burning from which to light the taper. The lighting of a piece of paper or match by any other employee than those mentioned in any part of the building, under any circumstances, is considered sufficient cause for dismissal and is recognized as such by them.

As regards the means of escape from the building in case a fire should occur, the two upper stories communicate with the lower ones by means of two stairways and two elevators, one each at the cast and west ends of the building, distant from each other at least 200 feet. From the second floor, in addition to the means mentioned above, there is a stairway about 6 feet wide leading down to the main H-street entrance.

A passageway leads out to the ware-room, and communicates with a stairway leading into the yard. Another passageway leads into the stereo-typing-room, from which a stairway leads down into the yard. From the lower floor, in addition to the various doors, every window can be used, if necessary; so that there is no danger of any one on that floor being injured. Mr. Clapp also states that he has made arrangements to have another stairway at the west end of the building, six feet wide, from the top to the ground floor, and is also having the hose hauled, and if it is found not in good order, he will have it replaced by new hose. From this statement it will be seen that every recaution has and will be taken to prevent any disaster like that of Fall River, and the employees can rest assured that their safety and welfare will ever be uppermost in the mind of their able and kind-hearted superintendent. The following card will explain the views of

The following card will explain the views of Mr. Clapp on the subject:

OPPICE OF THE CONGRESSIONAL PHINTER, 2
WASHINGTON, September 25, 1874.
Editor of the Star: Being a constant reader of your journal, the communication and editorial it contained yesterday relating to the safety of the employees of this office in case of fire did not excape my notice. I think hose articles are calculated to cause needless alarm and work unjust projudice. While I am not insensible to the importance of excreising all possible precaution and care looking to the preservation of life and limb, in case of configuration; and while I should deeply regret any unfortunate results, from a lack of abundant safeguards, I must deprecate any undue effort to impair confidence and create panic, in view of existing facts. The subject of the sufety of the employees of this building in case of fire has been a matter of frequent conference between the engineer in charge of the buildcase of fire has been a matter of frequent confer-ence between the engineer in charge of the build-ing and myself, and as often as it has been con-sidered, in view of the existing safeguards, we have come to the deliberate conclusion that these are abundant to prevent fire or to effect its speedy extinguishment should it unfortunately occur. have come to the deliberate conclusion that these are abundant to prevent fire or to effect its speedy extinguishment should it unfortunately occur.

The ground story of the main building, which is used as engine-room, press-room, drying-room and ware-room, is without fire, except from gas for lighting. The paper and other infiammable material referred to by you and your correspondent is gathered from the floor constantly during the day, and hence there can be no dangerous accumulation thereof. The machinery runs at a low rate of speed, and is kept constantly olled, so that no ignition from friction can possibly occur. Then, again there are five doors in the press and drying-rooms and three in the ware-room, as means of egress.

The second story is occupied and used for the purpesse of composition, proof-reading and officer for the Congressional Printer and his clerks. No fire is used on this floor except in burning gas for lighting. Like the other steries it is heated by steam, and nothing imflammable is used to endanger safety to ether life or property as against fire. This story has five places of escape, one of which is nearly six feet wide.

The third story is occupied by the bindery. It is heated by steam, and rasis is lurrous for light, in the stead by steam, and rasis is lurrous for light.

which is nearly six feet wide.

The third story is occupied by the bindery. It is heated by steam, and gas is burned for lighting, ac. Great care is constantly exercised throughout this department to prevent fire. The means of escape from this story, which, when in full work, contains only about 300 persons, is by two stairways and three elevators.

The fourth and upper story is used for compestion of the Record and for folding and storing work in progress from the press to the bindery. It has two stairways and three elevators

It has two stairways and three elevators relieve the room of its occupants in case of These stories are supplied with hose for extin guishing fires, with an abundant supply now of water in each, and yet the greatest protection exists in the constant and vigilant watch care exercised throughout the building during the hours of labor. During this time the place is alive with mechanics and laborers on the watch, and it is not possible, white thus occupied and guarded, for a fire to originate in any part of the main building and get one minute's start of observation, and should one occur it could searcely orist a minute after being discovered without being extinguished.

Then, again, all experience demonstrates tha when the office is in full force, the building, with its existing means of egress, can clear itself of itpeople in five minutes, unless some act of crimina I find that the hose held in the building as th I find that the hose held in the building as the means of extinguishing fire has been condemned by your correspondent. The engineer assures me that it was perfect when introduced, and has never been impaired by use. However, its condition will be severely tested, and if found defective, it will be supplainted by a perfect and more useful article. No expense necessary, under the judgment of a compotent engineer, will be spared to secure the employees of this office against accident to life or limb in case of fire; for it were far better that a large sum of money should be expended to insure safety than that either should be put in jecquardy.

BRUTALITY OF AN OFFICER. the Editor of the National Republican: Siz: Permit me to intrude upon your time an space to the extent that I may show out in his true colors one of our noble, high-minded guardians of the law, by name Farquahar. This valiant fellow, while at the corner of Massachu-setts avenue and Fifth street yesterday afternoon, alled to within arms-reach a little dog, belongng to some children in the neighborhood, and th a blow of his club broke the front legs of the poor thing, and then proceeded to reduce his ody to the consistency of ielly by a slow proce of light blows, given at long intervals. He then off the uneightly mass of flesh and bone, went eross the street, washed his hands at the pump was lying, and, as if ashamed of his dirty work, palled up some handsful of grass and threw ove e remains. He then went to the station-he and reported that he had killed a mad dog. Now Mr. Editor, the above was witnessed by a number of respectable residents in the vicinity, who wil youch for its truth. Is it not time that we had a olice force composed wholly of gentlemen, and not brutes? There are some exceptions, I am glad to say: but if such men as this Farquahar are retained on the force, our own property, life nd limbs are in questionable security. F. R. G. THE NEW BUILDING COMPANY, heretofore referred to in our columns, promises to be even more successful than its projectors antipated, but we see no reason why the plan should not be as popular here as in other cities. Phila-telphia, the city of homes, owes its enormous growth to the fact that its citizens co-operated in this way in building its houses, and we are glad to know that the company organizing here has met with the success it deserves. More than balf the stock has been subscribed during the last week, much of it by persons in the Departments, te whom it affords a splendid opportunity to invest their small savings; but among the sub-scribers we notice the signatures of many of our most sugacious and successful citizens, engaged in other and more active pursuits, viz: J. VIRGINIA OLD TIMES-MR. SENER'S PROSPECTS IN STAFFORD.

[Correspondence of the National Republicau.] FALMOUTH, VA., September 28, 184. This villinge, at the head of tide-water on the Rappahannock river, was the centre of active military operations from the fall of 1802 until after the battle of the Wilderness, where Grant pro-posed "to fight it out on this line." Many a warworn veteran, when "fighting over his battles again," will eall to mind the picket duty performed between this place and the "Lacey House," known in old times as "Chatham," the sidence of Judge Coulter. A stranger visiting this dilapidated old town, at this time, would hardly think it was open commercial mart of much importance; that mer-chant princes did business and resided within its limits. Basel; Gordon, whose powdered hair, gold spectacles and scrupulously neat black suit is still well remembered by the old residents, was the chief of these princes. Mr. Gordon was Scotchman, and settled in Falmouth more than haif a century ago. By his sterling integrity and extensive commercial transactions he accumulated and bequeathed to his heirs over two million dollars. Among the merchants of note in this place, twenty-five years ago, were: J. B. Ficklen, Duff Green, Murray Forbes, Wm. C. Beale, Wm. Brooke, Thos. Scott, J. M. O'Bannon, James Coon, George Latham, Mark Harding and a host of "small fry," not one of whom are now in business, nor is there a respectable store in the place. At the time referred to two large flouring mills and two cotton factories gave constant employment to kundreds of persons. Now the only manufacturing carried on is a cotton mill. owned and operated by Duff Green, son of the prominent citisen referred to above. Instead of the noisy hum of industry a death-like silence prevails, broken only when candidates for office ome excited, and their constituents are filled with "tangle-foot,"

"" i and of the beautiful,
How art the mighty fallen!
Yesterday a momarch, to-day a slave."
The prominent people of this village in old times were Whigs, and by their energy and influence all were prosperous. Now they are gone, their children generally are scattered, and what few remain are mourners over the "lost cause." This change from prosperity to poverty has been brought about by the Democratic party; and yet so infatuated are the people that they cannot disover the monster that is destroying them. They sigh for the old times, and wonder why they have degenerated, but if you undertake to explain the ause they exclaim : "No. 'tis not that: it's the d-n niggers." The fault is never with them, and they still : as blindly follow their file-leaders as they did before and during the rebellion. I was much surprised, however, to find in this hot-bed of Democracy that Sener, the present representative in Congress from this district and candidate for re-election, has so many friends. He is gaining popularity daily, and if there is no reaction between this time and election day he will be returned by an increased majority. In every tilt he has had with Douglas, the Democratic candidate, he has discomfited his adversary and proved himelf a champion able to defend the principles of is party and worthy the confidence of his friends. It is not asserting too much to say that Mr. Sener. n point of ability, is the peer of any man who has heretofore represented the district, but as a local representative he has never had a superior. For new man in a new place he has made a record of which his constituents should be proud. His return to Congress is a settled fact.

STAPFORD. ARREST OF COUNTERFEITERS.

CAPTURE OF COIN, PLATES AND GREEN. BACKS.
A few days since information was received at the secret service office from Gov. Jacobs, of West Virginia, that he had reason to believe that a gang of counterfeiters were operating in his State. Solicitor Wilson at once turned the matter over to the acting chief of the division, Mr. Benson. Quickly completing his plans, Mr. Charles E. Anchisi was dispatched from New York tast Tuesday to work the case up. whereabouts of the gang were seented, and the atter part of last week saw four of the gang lodged in the State's prisen at Statesville, N. C., and near the West Virginia line. The discovery was at the same time made that a box had been shipped by Adams Express from that section to Louisville under somewhat mysterious circum stances. Anchisi was directed to follow up the clue, and yesterday about I o'clock the following dispatch was received from him: Industrial Mass received from this.

LITERARY. We have received "Cantain Kidd" from Ballan tyne's. It makes one of Messrs. Dodd & Meed's illustrated edition of the "Pioneers and Patriots of America," by that highly interesting author John S. C. Abbott, whose gifted pen has done more for the amusement and instruction of American youth than any other, except, perhaps, that of Peter Perley, Every boy's library should possess "Captain Kidd." "By Still Waters" is another beautiful book, for which we are indebted to Ballantyne, published by Bodd & Meed, New York. This is a most interesting story of the life of a God-fearing little woman, invested with numerous charms by the fine writing and practical thoughts with which it is interwoven by Mr. Edward Garrett. How easy and how simple it is to do good is fully Illustrated in this story and its surroundings, as well as the truth of the adage that persever virtue brings its own sure reward. The place for this book is in every yeuth's library. "The Republic" for October possesses more than the usual variety of interesting political matter. The articles upon the "Southern Situ-ation" and the "Cost of the Government" are written with conspicuous ability, and should be read with care by every politician and patriot. The miscellaneous articles upon a variety of topics are full of instruction, many of them con-

SAILORS AS LOVERS AND HUSBANDS. "Olivia" has a well-written, sparkling letter from Washington in the Philadelphia Press of yesterday. Here is a paragraph we cull from it for the benefit of the young ladies whose weakness is bright buttons and blue coats: ness is oright outcons and dine coats:

be more bright and attractive: Imagine the smooth-shaven sward dotted with historic relies of mighty achievement, and ornamented with the same cannon balls that Honry Ward Hescher seduced into his boyish hat, the darling 'middles' in bright buttons and smart blue coats, with all their delightful ocean pranks. Is it a wonder the girls' hearts are gone before they are quite sure they hare any? Besides, a salior makes love in a different way from an ordinary land-labber. Time is short on shore, and the moments must not be spent in dallying. It is a kiss and a blow, and the blow means matrimony; and God help the woman who has a salior husband or lover. A person was once heard say, 'My parents were married twenty-seven years, and my father was a commodore in the navy; twenty-two of those years my mother spent alone on the land, for in those days no weman was allowed on a United States war-vessel. When I was a little child I remember a tall, bearded, rough-looking man, who used to come once in a great while to our house, and mother would call, 'children, come and see your father!' The only time I was glad to look at him was when he brought us a parret.'

The can exploded, and the bur ing fluid was thrown over her, burning her face arms and body in a most tearful manner. About 11:30 o'clock on Saturday morning a man named Patrick Skahan, was seriously injured at Mt. Clare station, on the Baltimere and Chie railroad. It appears that Skahan, who is a taining matters of public record valuable for workman on the road, was repairing a broken brake under a frieght car, near Mt. Clare, and several other cars were backed down the track and struck the car he was working under. Ska han was knocked down by the force of the collision, and the wheels of two freight cars passed over his legs and body. The injured man was re moved to an adjoining house immediately after the accident, but, although he was attended by a physician, he died less than an hour.

When ar rested she had shipped her things, and it is sup-posed that she was starting to meet Mr. Hobday, and go with him to Europe; but when questione as to his whereabouts, she stated that she did not know where Hobday was, and that some persons had said he had gone away with Mrs. St. Arling-About 2:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon a se rious accident occurred to Mr. S. F. Wyvil, con-ductor on car No. 105 of the Blue line, at the sorner of Calvert and Baltimore streets. Wyvil's car had reached the switch leading into Calvert street, and he having arranged the switch was in the act of stepping upon the platferm of his ear, which had started to turn the corner, when car No. 6 of the Red line came along on its way up Haltimore street. Wyvil was caught between the two cars, and it seemed to those who saw his position that he would be crushed to death. He was held in an upright position until the cars had passed each other, and then fell to the ground. He was able to get up, and was assisted to the drug store of Coleman & Rogers, where it was ound that his collar-bone was broken and tha he had sustained injuries about the body. Barnum's Hippodrome terminated its engage-ment with an exhibition on Saturday afterneon, and immediately the packing-up process com-menced. The rapidity with which the $,000 square feet of canvass which covers the immense Hippedrome descended to the ground was wonderful. The centre and quarter-poles seemed to disap-pear like magic, and in little over forty-five minutes all was ready for the wagons. In this department 125 men were employed. Mr. Charles Murray is quartermaster of the Hippodrome, and C. W. Fuller, contracting agent. Mr. Mitchell has charge of the horse department, numbering 400 all told, and which are divided into three classes, vix: Chariot, congress of nations and team horses. Mr. Mitchell is assisted by Mossrs. Smith, Fisher and Strickland. There are thirty wagons used in the transportation of stock, &c., belonging to the Hippodrome, and eighty grooms employed to attend the horses. The twenty ockeys groom their own horses. There are 1,500 people all told connected with the great show. From Samual H. Hurd, esq., treasurer, it is learned that the receipts for the twelve days of the show were, in round numbers, $100,000; but their expectations were to take in double that amount. The first week of the show was marked by rain and wind, the former financially disas-trous, and the latter only so to a portion of the tent. A slight fire also occurred. The lumber of which the Hippodrome was constructed was sold on Thursday last by O. A. Kirkland & Co., auctioneers, for about 15 per cent, less than cost, viz: $600. The large number of chairs for re The efficials, as well as the numerous attaches, male and female, of the Hippodreme, all left on Saturday night, via Pennsylvania ratiroad, for Pittsburg, Pa. The properties, stock, &c., including elephants, buffaloes and camels, were taken upon the trains at the stock yard of the railroad company at Mount Vernon, just beyond the old Belton station and the city limits. The younger brother, about twelve years of age, saked his elder brother, aged four-toen, for a cap, and receiving it, stooped down to put it on his gun. In this position he was lower-ing the hammer, when it slipped from his ingers and exploded the cap, discharging the load into his brother's head, killing him instantly. Two little boys, John McKee, whose mother is a widow, residing on the Baltimore pike, near Cumberland, and George Metz, aged respectively fourteen and eleven years, were playing with a loaded revolver at the house of young McKee's mother, when the usual result followed. The pistol was accidentally discharged, the ball penetrating the right breast of young Mets, inflicting a severe wound, which, however, the physisian does not pronounce dangerous.

On Monday last a young man named Basil Wood, jr., living in Carroll county, left his home to go out gunning. Near noon he stopped at a house to ask some questions, and while standing on the idoor-steps in front of the house his foot slipped and he fell. In his struggles to prevent falling the tube of the gun was brought in con-tact with some hard substance, and the gun was instantly discharged. The entire load passed through his body, causing his death. The Cumberland Times of Saturday says:

HENRY WARD BEECHER'S CASE ACTION OF CONGREGATIONAL MIN-ISTERS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 .- The Tribune has the following: There were rumors yesterday after-noon in Brooklyn to the effect that some of the Congregational clergymen had determined to call another council for the purpose of trying the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher upon charges which would be formally presented against him of conduct unbecoming a elergyman of that denomination, and to decide whether it was fit and proper that he should remain in the ministry. A Tribune reporter conversed on the subject with an officer in the Church of the Pitgrins, and that gentleman said that he had heard that the subject of trying Mr. Beecher before a council had been spoken of, and he had no doubt before the end of the week the matter would take tangille shape. He said that the subject came up as follows: Some members of Plymouth Church, who are strong friends of Mr. Beecher, drew up an address expressing the confidence of the signers in Mr. Beecher's purity and inno-cence, and intended to obtain the signatures of all the Congregational ministers in Brooklyn, and present it to him on next Saturday, so that it might be a gratifying assurance that he had not lost the confidence of his fellow-clergymen. Some of the persons to whom it was presented refused to sign it, remarking that the serious charges against Mr. Beecher had not yet been satisfactorily met, and that in their opinion HE SHOULD REPRAIN FROM PREACHING natil the subject had been judicially decided. It was then suggested that it might be a long time before the suit of Mr. Tilton could be brought to trial that it would be unjust to let Mr. Beecher trial, that it would be unjust to let Mr. rest under the charges untried during the inter val, and that the proper course to pursue was to make formal charges before a council and have the matter settled by the high court of the Congregational Church. It was urged, further, that if it should happen that while Mr. Beecher was continuing to preach a jury of his fellow men should declare him guilty of the crime charged by air. Tilton, it would place the Congregational Church in a very humiliating position—the posi-tion of reticence and inaction in regard to a man whom a jury had convicted before the Church had even inquired into the matter. Preliminary steps had been taken to held a council, but the gentleman said that what had been done he could not state, but he had reason to believe that the council would be held. He could say nothing further upon the subject which thus far had been kept very quiet. He said that an impress been created by a pamphlet written by the Rev. Dr. Fairfield, a Congregational preacher at Mansfield, Ohio. This document is entitled "Wickedness in High Places." It is a review of the Rev. Benry Ward Beecher's case, and is freely circulating throughout Brooklyn. It is a pamphlet of 20 pages, written forcibly and logically. The author, who states that he has been a life-long friend of Mr. Beecher, from what he styles a "galm review of all the evidence,"

BELIEVES MR. BESCHER TO BE QUILTY, and says among other things: "For years Mr. Beecher's portrait has hung in the most prominent place in my house; only Washington's and Lincoln's besides-Henry Ward Beecher's in the most honored place of the three, and when, a few weeks since, I took it down and hid it away from sight, it was with such throes of soul as I hope never to experience again." Dr. Fairfield, after an elaborate examination of the evidence, makes the following conclusion: "In all the cases that have come to my knowledge in thirty years of service in the ministry, I have never found an other in which, to my mind, the proofs were so absolutely overwhelming." Dr. Fairfield demands that Mr. Beecher be "properly tried by a properly constituted ecclesiastical court," and says in conclusion: "I protest against sustaining in the office of Christian teacher a man against whom there exists such astounding evidence of guilt," DR. BUDINGTON VISITED.

A Tribuse reporter visited the Rev.W. L Budington, D. D., last evening at his freedence on Clermont avenue, Brooklyn. "Dr. Budington," said the reporter, "it is rumored that there is to be another Congregational council. Can you give me any information regarding it?" Dr. Budington replied: "There is no such movement on foot-that is to say, if there is such a movement I know nothing whatever about it." PLYMOUTH CHURCH MAY BE TRIED.

In conversation last night with a Tribune re porter, a Congregational elergyman said that a council might be called to consider whether Ply-mouth church should not be declared outside of the pale of Congregationalism, but that it had no power to prevent Mr. Beecher from preaching, or to try him for any offence. His church alone had that power. Congregationalism is pure church democracy. Every church is independent and manages its own affairs and the relations which exist between it and its paster. All outside interference is contrary to Church polity, and would not be entertained. He said that he had heard the subject of refusing recognition to Plymouth church mentioned as likely to be consid-

No notice of issue has yet been made in the elerk's office of the City Court in the suit of Mr. Tilten against Mr. Beecher, and it is understood that the case will not be called during the Octo ber term, as there are a large number of wit nesses with whom Mr. Tilton's counsel desires to confer before bringing the case before a jury The case may not be called before December. In fact, there was a street rumor vesterday that it would never be called at all, and that a settle ment had been agreed upon between the epposing counsel whereby the suit would be discon Gen. Tracy and ex-Judge Morris refused to converse upon the subject, but replied, in subtance hands.

Chas. R. Ovington says that after Mr. Beecher had read Mr. Tilton's last statement he macomment concerning it, and that, notwithstanding Mr. Moulton's course toward him, he speaks of him kinely, but serrowfully, displaying neither anger nor revengeful feelings.

BOUR STONACH.

If the food taken into the stemach is not digested it decomposes. In the latter case a pungent gas is developed which he cases sour eractations, or else the stomach itself secrets an acid, which, rising upward at intervals, stings the gullet sharply. These extremely disagreeable sensations are attributable to impaired digestion. To got rid of them, or prevent their recurrence, it is only necessary to tone and regulate the gastric organs with Hostetter's Bitters. It will not answer to pespone the great corrective with the idea that the unpleasant symptoms will disappear of themselves. So far from that being the case, they almost invariably culminate, if neglected, in chronic dyspepsia, with its concentrants of gnawing in the stemach, distinces, perverted vision, headache and sleeplessness. It is true that all these disagreeables may be obviated by a course of the Bittoric but how much wiser to anticipate their arrival with one or two doses of that sure preventive of indigestion.
